

Video

With two basic ways of capturing moving images, standard and time-lapse, short and long term contracts can be recorded. Storyboards and stage direction can be provided based on customer requirements.

On-site videoing has proved fundamental in training and development programmes, product or process explanation, site development and particularly when recording the construction of a long term contract using a time-lapse camera.

All work is undertaken using digital cameras and edited in-house in the editing suite. The resulting transposed images can be viewed through a video recorder or digitally through computer using CD-Rom/DVD.

Old VHS training or site videos can also be re-mastered to a DVD or edited where necessary to modern standards.

Capturing your development